Upcoming Volunteer Opportunities

We are gearing up for our spring events. Many thanks to all who signed up during the January meeting to volunteer for upcoming event tables! We filled a large number of spots. But we still need a few volunteers for the following events and shifts:

• San Antonio Zoo Monarch Festival, March 28 and March 29. Jana Gibbons/lead. Shifts: Saturday 10 am-12 pm and 12-2 pm; Sunday, 12-2 pm.
• Earth Day at Woodlawn Park, April 18. Norma Moore/lead. Shift: 12:30-3 pm.
• Migatory Bird Festival at Mitchell Lake, May 9. Fred Loxsom/lead. Shifts: 10 am-12pm; 12-2 pm.

If you would like to help with any of the listed events, please let us know the date and shift you would like to work at the above email.

New standing contact list

We regularly get requests (usually on a few weeks notice) asking for a speaker on native plants from a variety of smaller outside groups – some adult (garden clubs, neighborhood associations, etc.), some teen or older childer (e.g. scout troops). If we can’t find a speaker, we have to decline the invitation, and that is a missed opportunity to educate our fellow community members about the importance of utilizing native plants and their many benefits! We are hoping that this standing list will greatly increase our ability to provide speakers to outside groups.

You need not be a professional to volunteer to speak. If you have a passion for natives and love to talk about them, you are qualified! And if you have an existing presentation or power point on a topic related to native plants, or enjoy creating tailored presentations, we encourage you to sign up for our new standing list of speakers. An email notification will be sent to members on this list whenever we receive requests for a speaker from outside groups. We need more speakers, so if you missed the October and January meetings and would like to sign up, please email npsotsavolunteers@gmail.com and let us know the topic(s) of your presentation(s) and the targeted age group(s).

We also have standing contact lists for “hands-on projects,” information tables, and family friendly events.
